

SERVICE LEARNING AND CIVIC ENGAGEMENT THROUGH HIGHER EDUCATION

KAYLEE VASQUEZ | FLORIDA STATE UNIVERSITY

SERVICE AND SUSTAINABLE FUTURES IN MOROCCO AND BEYOND

ABSTRACT:

This cross-cultural experience in Rabat, Morocco, explores how to expand your frontiers while engaging a passion for community-based service-leadership. Fellow students will explore key considerations in developing sustainable, service experiences. Multiple audiences will appreciate the way this speaker highlights pathways for engagement among first generation, immigrant students, direct service with social solidarity economy, and sustainable engagement practices for accessible peace, as well as the transferable skills, knowledge sharing, and adaptive practices aligned with community-embedded experiences.

THEMATIC FOCUS: LISTENING CLOSELY | PLAYING AROUND | DISSONANCE & RESILIENCE

BIO(S):

KAYLEE VASQUEZ

Kaylee Vasquez is a second year International Affairs student at Florida State University. She was born and raised in the Dominican Republic, where she spent most of her life before moving to the United States with her family two years ago. As a result of her journey with immigration, Kaylee aspires to become an immigration attorney or public administrator to advocate for human and immigrants' rights. She holds leadership roles with the Center for Leadership & Service as a Moellership Fellow and Community Ambassador at FSU's Center for the Advancement of Human Rights.

Nashville, TN | March 26-28, 2025